Dominique Sanders Nursing Corporation/DBA Raelin Bright Wellness Telepsychiatric Care Consent

The terms may periodically be updated accordingly.

Telehealth Contract and Informed Consent PLEASE READ THIS DOCUMENT CAREFULLY.

THE INITIAL APPOINTMENT DOES NOT GUARANTEE TREATMENT AT THIS PRACTICE. THE INITIAL EVALUATION WILL HELP DETERMINE IF THIS PRACTICE IS AN APPROPRIATE SETTING FOR THE INDIVIDUAL. SHOULD THE INDIVIDUAL'S CONDITION WORSEN THROUGHOUT THE COURSE OF TREATMENT, A HIGHER LEVEL OF CARE MAY BE REQUIRED.

Introduction

Sessions and visits will be held via “telehealth”: using video conferencing software with audio capability and/or a separate software/device for audio (e.g. telephone, headset, etc.). Of note, telehealth establishes a formal provider-patient relationship used to maintain regular assessment, diagnostics, therapy, and/or prescription.

We will be utilizing Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) protected software to ensure that your protected health information is secure from unauthorized access and that confidentiality is maintained. This document serves as a consent form for treatment via telehealth in general.

Benefits of Telehealth

Telehealth stands at the crossroads of cutting-edge technology and formal behavioral health services. You can expect the following benefits:

- 1) Telehealth eliminates barriers to accessing healthcare and provides an alternative means to obtain behavioral health services for patients who may otherwise have limited accessibility or encounter prolonged waiting lists in the community.
- 2) In addition to removing the burden of travel time to a physical medical office as well as the risks and costs associated with transportation, telehealth allows for flexible scheduling.
- 3) Telehealth offers a reduction of stigma by providing private treatment in the comfort of the patient's personal space.
- 4) Telehealth can provide treatment to patients with disabilities and limited mobility without requiring extensive planning for transport.

Limitations of Telehealth

While it is not possible to anticipate all the limitations of any treatment, you should consider the following when consenting to treatment via telepsychiatry:

- 1) Telehealth audiovisual equipment may experience technical difficulties.
- 2) While every precaution is taken to secure patient data and maintain confidentiality, the nature of electronic appointments results in additional exposure to security breaches.
- 3) Telehealth may not be suitable for certain illnesses that require higher levels of care.
- 4) Certain illnesses may not be adequately treated by telepsychiatry.
- 5) Due to law, controlled substances may not be prescribed solely through telehealth; current telehealth flexibilities have been extended through the end of the year 2025; patients on controlled substances will need to obtain an in-person provider when the new updated provisions and laws have been established. These substances are subject to addiction, abuse, and illegal diversion. As such, safer and lawful alternatives may be considered.

Safety and Alternate Treatment Options

As telehealth is generally conducted remotely, safety protocols and alternate means of seeking help will be addressed in detail in your consultation. However, the following are generally accepted alternatives to treatment via telehealth:

- 1) You may elect to seek treatment in a more traditional, in-office visit with another provider. Note that current evidence via rigorous studies has shown that treatment via telehealth is equivalent to face-to-face visits with a psychiatric provider.
- 2) Pursuing treatment via telehealth is a decision made by you. If you choose to revoke your decision and pursue alternate treatment, you can withdraw your consent at any time. (Of course, we recommend discussing this decision with your provider first. We also recommend establishing your next provider prior to termination to eliminate any gaps in treatment.)

Required Information at Every Visit

- 1) Name, location, and telephone number of the patient at the time of the session. This is to ensure that your provider is aware of alternative means of treatment should an emergency occur. You must be present in one of the states where the provider is licensed to practice at the time of service. Medication refills will not be sent by the provider to retail pharmacies where the provider is not licensed to practice.

Rights and Responsibilities of the Provider and Patient

- 1) We will require a physical examination to be completed by the patient's primary medical doctor or provider and medication conditions to be managed by the patient's primary medical doctor or provider.

2) We reserve the right to assess the suitability and appropriateness of telehealth candidates due to the potential limitations of the treatment modality mentioned above.

3) In the event of imminent danger, the provider is legally and ethically bound to report information to authorities, family members, or others, to minimize potential harm.

4) 24-hour notice is required for all cancelations. The patient will not be refunded the appointment fee without proper notice.

Consent

1) The patient understands that he/she consents to behavioral health evaluation and treatment via telehealth or in-person.

2) The patient understands that no results can be guaranteed, despite our best efforts to deliver care.

3) The patient understands that they can ask questions about telehealth or any aspects of the evaluation and treatment at any time.

SOCIAL MEDIA AND TELECOMMUNICATION

Due to the importance of your confidentiality and the importance of minimizing dual relationships, Your provider will not accept friend or contact requests from current or former clients on any social networking site (Facebook, LinkedIn, etc.). Adding clients as friends or contacts on these sites can compromise your confidentiality and our respective privacy. It may also blur the boundaries of our therapeutic relationship. If you have questions about this, please bring them up when you meet with your provider to talk more about it.

ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATION

We cannot ensure the confidentiality of any form of communication through electronic media, including text messages. If you prefer to communicate via email or text messaging for issues regarding scheduling or cancellations, we will do so through secure messaging within the EMR or Patient Portal or secure email: info@raelinbrightwellness.com. Allow 72 hours for a response, excluding weekends or holidays.

If you and your provider choose to use information technology for some or all of your treatment, you need to understand that: (1) You retain the option to withhold or withdraw consent at any time without affecting the right to future care or treatment or risking the loss or withdrawal of any program benefits to which you would otherwise be entitled. (2) All existing confidentiality protections are equally applicable. (3) Your access to all medical information transmitted during a telemedicine consultation is guaranteed, and copies of this information are available for a reasonable fee. (4) Dissemination of any of your identifiable images or information from the telemedicine interaction to researchers or other entities shall not occur without your consent. (5) There are potential risks, consequences, and benefits of telemedicine. Potential benefits include, but are not limited to improved communication capabilities, providing convenient access to up-to-date information, consultations, support, reduced costs, improved quality, change in the conditions of practice, improved access to treatment, better continuity of care, and reduction of lost work time and travel costs.

Effective treatment is often facilitated when the provider gathers within a session or a series of sessions, a multitude of observations, information, and experiences about the client. Providers may make clinical assessments, diagnoses, and interventions based not only on direct verbal or auditory communications, written reports, and third-person consultations but also on direct visual and olfactory observations, information, and experiences. When using information technology in therapy services, potential risks include, but are not limited to the provider's inability to make visual and olfactory observations of clinically or therapeutically potentially relevant issues such as: your physical condition, including deformities, apparent height, and weight, body type, attractiveness relative to social and cultural norms or standards, gait and motor coordination, posture, work speed, any noteworthy mannerism or gestures, physical or medical conditions including bruises or injuries, basic grooming, and hygiene including appropriateness of dress, eye contact (including any changes in the previously listed issues), sex, chronological and apparent age, ethnicity, facial and body language, and congruence of speech and facial or bodily expression. Thus, potential consequences include the provider not being aware of what he or she would consider important information that you may not recognize as significant to present verbally to the provider.

TERMINATION

Ending relationships can be difficult. Therefore, it is important to have a termination process to achieve some closure. The appropriate length of the termination depends on the length and intensity of the treatment. We may terminate treatment if we determine that the psychiatric treatment is not being effectively used, you need a higher level of care, if you have aggressive behavior or if you are in default on payment. Termination of care may also happen if the working relationship is no longer therapeutic. We will not terminate the therapeutic relationship without first discussing and exploring the reasons via videoconference, email or notifying you by certified mail and the purpose of terminating. If you are non-compliant with mandatory treatment recommendations (labs, PCP visits, urine drug screens, follow-up visits, etc.) or if you need a higher level of care, you are subject to termination. If your treatment is terminated for any reason or you request another provider, we will provide you with a list of qualified mental health providers, directories or defer you to your insurance carrier to treat you. You may also choose someone on your own or from another referral source.

Should you fail to schedule an appointment every 90 days, unless other arrangements have been made in advance, for legal and ethical reasons, we must consider the professional relationship discontinued or terminated; you would be presumed as discharged from the practice and an extended visit or initial evaluation, along with signed consent for treatment (required again once discharged) would be required, should you decide to return to this practice.
